

Love & Trust

(Based on letters and talks of the Rebbe Rabbi M. M. Schneerson)

Trust is the child of love, for where love showers down, trust will grow.

And since it is a child, the reciprocal is also true: As the child's call awakens a parent from deep sleep, so trust awakens the love that gave birth to it.

Provide love; trust will be born from it. Demonstrate your trust, and it will awaken love.

So it is with a child and a parent. So it is with two good friends. So it is with any marriage. Your love may hibernate in deep sleep, but you have trust that the other holds love inside, and in that trust, love awakens once more.

So it is with the love affair between your soul and her Beloved above. Trust that He is in love with you, and your love will awaken.
